Village Board Annexes Land Into Village

A special village board meeting was held Friday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Richard Rhodes, head of Trend Builders and representative of the Lake Region Mortgage and Investment Company, requested President M. Cunningham to call the special meeting, paying Board fees of $100.

The entire board with the exception of Ed. Vos, trustee, was present.

The only thing discussed at the meeting, it was reported by Village Clerk Clarence Shultis, was the annexation of 80 acres acquired from the Ken Scribner farm, through corporation purchase.

Rhodes declared that the acreage would be zoned for light industry. So far, only 40 acres will be zoned for industry's immediate use, it was also reported. The remaining 40 acres is still pending deliberation.

A hearing of the County Zoning Board reviewed the annexation in an informal meeting. Rhodes, who claims that the meeting was not necessary since the board had been duly notified, was present. The Board, however, met, claiming that they were not legally notified of the discontinued meeting. It was reported. The Zoning Board meeting took place Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 1:30 p.m.

An abrasive wheel manufacturer and a pipe organ company are among those light industries who have already inquired into the availability of the acreage for small plants.

The National Business Honor Society bases its membership requirements on scholarship and professional attitudes. The Society seeks to identify and recognize those students who have demonstrated their ability to do high quality work in all the subjects in which they have enrolled. Membership in this organization represents high scholarship and a professional attitude which are needed for success in the business world. Professional attitudes desired for membership are: scholarship, leadership, cooperation, occupational understanding, social competence and professional development.

Native is Student At Mexico College

Mr. Ralph J. Yopp of Crystal Bay, Nevada, formerly of Antioch, is attending Mexico City College in the Federal District of the Republic of Mexico. He is enrolled in the only liberal arts college in Latin America where classes are taught in English and credits are transferable to and from colleges and universities in the United States. Mexico City College operates on the quarter system, gives the B.A. and M.A. degrees, and is fully accredited through membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in the United States.

Yopp, a business administration major, in going to college abroad, is having the experience of getting new perspectives so important to the individual student and the United States as a whole. By studying in Mexico he is gaining an understanding of people and customs of another land and fluency in a foreign language, characteristics which have come to signify an educated man or woman.

Gambling Casino in County Under Hot Chicago Charges

A sensational and exclusive story printed earlier in this week reported a large-scale gambling casino in operation on Edwards Road, a mile east of Highway 45. The story, printed by a Chicago newspaper, related that the country estate, "The Old Homestead," a 15-room mansion converted into a gambling den, was within the Antioch area.

The gambling den, which is not in any way under the jurisdiction of the Village of Antioch, drew many north shore betters, it was also reported.

Roulette, dice games and cards were reportedly the various games offered to patrons at the establishment.

Thomas Griffin of Antioch, holder of the federal wagering tax stamp for the handbook, was reported, according to the Chicago newspaper, to be the operator of the casino. Speculative reports named Chicago and Milwaukee gangsters to be in receipt of a large portion of the Casino's operation.

The casino, boarded, apparently closed up, and painted black, conceals its identity, it was also reported.

Griffin reportedly had moved his casino from another farm building west of Illinois Highway 41 and south of Wisconsin to its present site in the last two weeks. Deputy Charles E. Larson reported that the old site of the casino had been under surveillance and that they had not discovered the present gambling headquarters until the Chicago newspaper story broke.

Larson reported that deputies had watched the casino operating off Edwards road without success. The vigilance was kept after the Chicago newspaper story broke. The only person to show up during the watch was a salesman, Larson added.

State's Attorney Bruno Stanczak stated that he knew of no gambling within Lake County and was depending upon a full investigation of the sheriff's office.

Local Doctor Joins Forum

Dr. Albert A. Bucar, of Antioch, was one of more than 400 optometrists, educators, psychologists and nurses who attended the Fifth Regional Forum on Visual Problems in Schools, held recently in Chicago.

The forum, sponsored by the Illinois Optometric Association and the American Optometric Association, had as its theme, "Procedures for Corrective Reading in the Classrooms." Guest speakers discussed such topics as corrective reading procedures at the elementary and secondary school levels, and implications of vision screening research for teachers and optometrists.

Those in attendance took part in discussion workshops on the themes presented by the speakers.

A new series "How to Save a Life," written by trained and experienced doctors, makes its first appearance in the pages of The Antioch News this week. This is an important column and we suggest your cutting it out and saving it. Through it you may save someone's life.

Village Board of Antioch stated that "Our town is clean and will stay clean." He went on further to express concern over clarification of the reported casino being under the village's jurisdiction. Cunningham also added that the incident reported in the Chicago newspaper had nothing what-so-ever to do with the Village of Antioch.

Local PTA Has Big Turnout

The November meeting of the Antioch Grade School PTA was held Monday evening in the gymnasium with about 200 persons in attendance.

In the business meeting at 7:30 p.m., the members voted to continue having Christmas treats for the children, to continue having the Christmas programs in the afternoon, and to continue the business meeting time at 7:30.

The value of membership in the State PTA was discussed, and it was decided to keep their membership. A report was made by ways and means chairman, Mrs. Bruce Barnes, on the recent smorgasbord dinner.

Open house was then held, and President Harrison Brown encouraged the parents to see the work of the students, on display in the rooms and to visit with the teacher of his or her child.

Room count was won by Mrs. Baethke's first grade, and Mrs. Power's sixth grade was second.

Hostesses for the evening were mothers of sixth grade students, with Mrs. Lucille Kuechenmeister, Mrs. Betty Heath, Mrs. Florence Johnson and Mrs. Ruth Cunningham in charge.

Amateurs To Play at Grant

The Commercial Club at Grant Community High School is making plans for the annual amateur show which will be held March 5, 1962 in the school auditorium.

The Amateur Show affords students an opportunity to appear, either as a solo or in a group. Any one who can sing, whistle, dance, play the sweet potato, or do acrobatics may see Sherry Sadilek, general manager; or Gayle Nelson, president, in order to make arrangements to compete. Early announcement of the program is being made to afford ample time to prepare a polished act.

SPECIAL NOTIFICATION

Due to an error of the Antioch News, a paragraph was left out of the Wasson-Dixon car accident of Nov. 5.

The paragraph reads: "Wasson was given a ticket for failing to yield the right-of-way. He will appear before Judge Stanton of Round Lake."

Secretary of State Carpentier Reports Reassignment Increase

Requests for reassignment of motor vehicle license numbers increased by 100,000 this year, going from 300,000 to 400,000, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier reported recently.

Mr. Carpentier attributed the increase to the adoption this year of the letter-digit numbering system for all numbers above 999,999, and pointed out that it occurred in spite of the discontinuance of the practice of personally notifying the holders of the first 75,000 numbers of the approach of the November 1 deadline for submitting applications.

In the group of numbers from 1 to 9,999, there was an increase of 161 in reassignments, even though there was no personal notification sent to the persons holding them, Secretary Carpentier said. He added, however, that the increase is balanced somewhat by a decrease a year ago, when holders of some in that group voluntarily relinquished

Levy Referendum Suggested By Northern Ed. Division

The Antioch Township High School Board, meeting Thursday, Nov. 16, at 7:30 p.m., adopted a Maturity Bond Schedule Plan that will receive an interest of $237,394 over a period of ten years. The plan was one of four selected by the board according to the salability of the bonds, bonds on short-term schedules being more salable on the

The Board of Directors of the Lake Villa Trust and Savings Bank today announced the election of Gerald F. Fitzgerald as a Director and Chairman of the Board.

Fitzgerald, 38, of Inverness, Countryside near Palatine, recently purchased a majority of stock in the bank. Fitzgerald said the Board of Directors contemplates no changes in personnel or policy.

"The Board of Directors and officers are committed to a program of continued improvement in banking services to residents of the Lake Villa area," Fitzgerald said.

Central High Prom Meeting

A group of parents and adults of Central High School students has indicated a willingness to attend an open meeting with the Board of Education for the purpose of discussing the Junior Prom. This meeting has been called for next Tuesday evening, November 28, at 8 p.m. at Central High School.

Questionnaires were distributed to the students to be given to all parents of Central High School asking for their comments pro and con. A total of 625 questionnaires was sent out and only 153 returned. Now, all interested parents and adults are urged to attend this open meeting.

them in order to obtain plates with their initials in the license number. The effectiveness of this method is evident from the results, and it saves between $50,000 and $75,000 of public money.

"We deeply appreciate the generous contribution of space and time made by the newspapers and radio and television stations of Illinois in this effort," Secretary Carpentier said.

Local Man Receives Driver Restriction

A probationary permit was recently issued to Archie V. Anderson of Antioch for driving offenses.

The announcement was made by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier through the Drivers License Division of his office affecting residents of Lake County.

market. Another reason for adopting the ten year plan, reported reported Supt. A. L. Dittman, was that a recapturing of the bonding power could be made more rapidly on a short-term schedule.

Five per cent of the assessed valuation is the legal limit for floating a bond issue in the Antioch District, which is currently totaling $53,000,000.

Mr. Dittman stated that the adopted schedule favorably hit the bond market in the present demands for bonds. Several houses in New York and Chicago joined in purchasing Antioch's bond issue.

By selecting the short-term schedule instead of longer-term plans, Mr. Dittman stated that the board felt they could save the district an estimated $53,000.

The board also voted to continue to participate in the Special Education Program of the District within Lake County. Antioch has already participated over a period of two years and its current program lies in speech therapy.

A letter originating from the General Supervisor of Education for the Northern Division, Floyd G. Staff, was then read. The letter commended the board and administration for providing good leadership and facilities for their students.

The letter also suggested that additional guidance counselors should be employed, audio-visual aids be expanded by addition of funds and services and the employment of a part-time art instructor. Suggestion of a referendum to increase the educational levy of the district was also stated. This referendum was suggested in order that the district maintain its financial structure and to continue its good educational program.

The board then authorized the purchase of three additional band uniforms.

Robert Lubkeman was approved as a school employee at the meeting. Lubkeman will be employed for snow removal in the school's parking area this winter.

Next Norman Jedele reviewed the audit of the school with the board. He reported that the district was in the best financial condition that it has been in the last ten years.

Attorney Ted C. Larson reported to the board that purchase of 3 1/2 acres from Mr. Jansen, for school development was now in the title stage.

The proposed plan to fence off the area near the railroad tracks to the west of the school and bordering on the football fields was tabled until financial conditions could be more thoroughly checked later on.

The final review of the board dealt with seepage coming from under the railroad tracks onto the school's property. Russell Lasco was authorized to put in 4-inch clay tile and stone filtering beds for $398.40, it was decided.

Lake Villa Books Need More Space

By Mrs. Roger Prosis

"Circulation is an important and descriptive term at the Lake Villa Township Library," said Mrs. Ted Belke, librarian. "Our books are circulating rapidly; our staff is attending instructional meetings; we are holding regional conferences of other area libraries here; and our quarters are being enlarged to accommodate ever-increasing use of our library."

Mrs. Belke expects the circulation figure for books and records to exceed 20,000 for the present fiscal year.

Mrs. Belke attended the recent Illinois Library Association 65th Annual Conference at the LaSalle Hotel, Chicago. Current library problems of improved service to taxpayers were the main topic of instruction and suggestion.

The Antioch News has been informed that the name of the construction company currently working on the Post Office is Vos Construction Company and not the Pichus Construction Company, as was earlier reported.

The Two-Dollar Better

The recent events leading to the journalistic discovery of gambling in our area does not come as a total shock to us. For years we have been aware of gambling in America, both petty and on a large-syndicate operated scale.

Who makes this wholesale and unwholesome pastime possible? Certainly, it is not the government, which takes every prevention to exclude gambling in states not permitting it. The federal government has powerful law enforcement agencies but they can not contend with individual state policies that apparently seem indifferent at times to the illegal gambling operations in their area. But still, the greater share of the blame can not be pinned onto the individual states, since they too, earnestly attempt to check illegal gambling with their special squads and agencies.

Who then, is responsible for the successful business of illegal gambling which filches millions and millions of dollars from the public purse of America? It appears to us that it is the public itself—the two-dollar better as he is commonly referred to.

A two-dollar bet would not seem to be a great contribution to this multi-million-dollar business but it most assuredly is. A man perhaps will rationalize, what can an insignificant bet do? What harm does it cause anyone? Besides it's not that much of a financial drain from me personally. It's my money. What harm does it do?

We feel that those two, insignificant dollars do a great deal of harm. Let us say that out of our 180,000,000 persons in America, only ten million bet a few dollars a week. That's 20 million a week, 80 million a month, 960,000,000 dollars a year, all going into the velvet-lined pockets of the big-time gamblers, aiding an illegal operation so strongly that it can function almost independently of the government itself and often does.

This money does not stop in the realm of gambling. It is power money, used to infiltrate legitimate businesses, used to back up even more vice-ridden operations—brothels, dope, political bribes, and a thousand more crime-swept businesses. This money, after it is bet, becomes a cancerous growth upon the economy of the honest dollar earned as wages and paid for legitimately by companies and businesses striving to maintain the legal ethics upon which our governmental system is based. This money (75% coming from the supposed well-intentioned 2-dollar better) depreciates not only our legal purchasing power but our way of life. It is in a way, a great aid to the communists in helping to undermine our country's financial status.

This system of betting two dollars has been described as "the two-dollar bean ball." A person bets his two dollars each week. It immediately goes into the coffers of bribed politicians who endorse the whole-scale gambling operations of the country, and those operations, in turn, continue to drain out the economy, slamming the two-dollar bean ball square between the eyes of the original better.

So every time you place that innocent but illegal bet, no matter how small, remember that you are systematically paying to have your rights taken away from you, piece by piece, year by year and dollar by dollar.

It seems as though the greeting card companies have covered almost every situation possible so far. The latest one I saw was, "Happy Thanksgiving to our Brother-in-law!"

Now I have a million dollar idea that they haven't (as this goes to press) covered as yet. When one of your friends or business associates gets a new car, does it take you several months to recognize them in it? And by this time they are convinced you have been snubbing them. Well, let's have the auto manufacturers supply, when you buy a new car, announcements of your purchase with a complete description of the new car, to be mailed to all your friends and acquaintances. They will probably think you're boasting a little, but they always thought you were better off than you claim anyway!

Attention, Larry and Roger, if either Motor Co. picks this up, I shall expect residuals.

Picture of the week. (If I only had a camera), the expression on Bill Vos' face as the truck that was towing him drove on down the street with only his front bumper!

Pipe the new plumbing at the Gene Diemer's house! Double faucets, with triangle washers!

About 40 women took a delightful prescription of bridge and luncheon last Thursday. Medication administered by the three lovely Mesdames Does Kopriva, Bobzien and Thain.

First report of a deer hunter returned, John Wieck, (River John), who bagged a double.

Bet the phone jingled off the hook at the Lindenhurst P. D. last week, with offers from lovely young things who would be glad to accompany bachelor Bob Striecher on his lonely nite vigil.

The American Experience

By Ray Fuechner

The pages of American frontier history are filled with illustrious names evocative of courage, integrity, and derring-do. Names such as Kit Carson, John Fremont, Jim Bridger, Buffalo Bill, Davy Crockett, Lewis & Clark, Wyatt Earp, Sam Bass, and so many more. Not so remembered are the villains of the American past, a prime example of same being the nefarious Simon Girty.

The literature among you will immediately recall Simon Girty as a member of the jury called forth from hell by the Devil, in Stephen Vincent Benet's classic short story, "The Devil and Daniel Webster."

Just who was Simon Girty? "Simon Girty was by nature a leader; by acquisitions an inhuman monster; by birth an Irish-American; by habit a savage." Before the end of his life the name Simon Girty was to stand as a synonym for terror.

The son of a man who made his living by the notorious means of selling guns and liquor to the Indians, Simon Girty naturally started out life on the wrong foot. When still a mere lad—no taller than a good-sized birch switch—Simon Girty was taken into captivity by a band of Indians. Later rescued, he eventually grew to manhood and joined in the American fight for freedom, the Revolutionary War. On the British side! He was a traitor.

The main stuff of Girty's villainy at this time consisted of circulating false and malicious stories among the Indians, causing them to attack the Americans. During the remainder of the War he occupied himself with such diversions as: engaging in massacres, "scalping" crusades, and savage battles.

And then, in the midst of this madness reminiscent of the milder moods of Gilles des Rais, love came to Simon Girty. She was a young lady who had been captured by the Indians—those dang Redskins again—whose beauty was such that she charmed even her captors. Girty, finding that the girl's mother was in Detroit, determined to rescue the eighteen-year old beauty and spirit her back to her mother, thus hoping to win the favor of both mother and daughter. This illustrates the old adage: The way to a girl's heart is through her mother.

As a reward for his services, Simon Girty asked for the hand of Catherine Malott, the lass in question. Though the young lady was in full agreement with this idea, Mrs. Malott, in the tradition of American courtship still prevalent, wanted her daughter to remain at home. But Girty prevailed, and Catherine Malott became Mrs. Simon Girty, a situation which she lived to regret.

Simon drank as though each day were a Lost Weekend and this, of course, eventually caused a rupture in their marital relations. Mrs. Girty took the kids and went back to Detroit and mother, while Simon resumed his notorious career.

So at the turn of the century (circa 1800) Simon Girty was once again leading bands of Indians in raids on innocent settlers, scalping fur-trappers, and in general, terrorizing the West. So the five-foot ten-inch bundle of perversion labeled Simon Girty secured for himself a lasting place in the tradition of great American sybaritic renegades.

Within the next three years, the vast majority of people in Illinois will be but an hour's drive or so from a complete range of mental health services. These services will be provided by six community-centered clinics.

The clinics will be a tangible demonstration of our belief that mental health services should be readily available to all of the people of the State of Illinois who need them. In dividing the state into zones and designating the best location for these clinics, Illinois has radically departed from older methods of isolated custodial-type institutions.

Today we are seeing the first signs of an enlightened program to serve communities—a program that should catapult Illinois into national leadership in this field.

Many have contributed to this progress. Those who voted for this bond issue have given the state the investment capital to construct community clinics in Chicago, Springfield, Peoria, Rockford and Decatur, with a children's branch of the Decatur center near the University of Illinois' excellent facilities at Urbana.

The communities throughout Illinois who actively sought a clinic supply overwhelming evidence of sincere grass roots interest. Brochures filling two large boxes are indicative of this interest. Moreover, offers of sites and police and fire protection by community groups constituted one of the most enthusiastic outpourings of genuine civic interest that I have ever witnessed.

Yet, there were many hard realities we had to consider: limited funds, geography, population density, accessibility, hospital facilities, institutions of higher learning and most important, attracting the necessary psychiatric specialists to staff these clinics. We consider the final selections the only logically possible steps to begin this important new concept.

Briefly, the centers will be divided into six categories, three for adults and three for children, with a total of from 280 to 300 beds. The adult services include approximately 160 beds for all types of mental illness; 20 beds and a well-developed out-patient center for alcoholism; another 20 beds and some out-patient treatment for geriatrics.

Children's services will include 40 or so beds for diagnosis and the intensive treatment of mental retardation; 20 beds and extensive out-patient service for emotionally disturbed, pre-psychotic and psychotic children; and out-patient facilities for children's services generally. Next week I will describe in more detail our overall plans for children's services.

THE WILL THE STATE OF ILLINOIS MAKES FOR YOU

Did you realize that the State of Illinois makes a will for you if you fail to make one? In Illinois, persons of age 18 or over may dispose of their property as they see fit by means of a properly signed and witnessed will. However, many people never make a valid will, and for these the laws of Illinois provide a scheme of distribution of property at death. In effect the State makes a will for us if we do not make our own.

Seven Examples

A general understanding of this statutory plan can be acquired through consideration of seven simple examples. Merely assume in each of the following cases that the deceased person died without leaving a valid will. One of the cases will probably fit your present situation if you don't have a will.

First Aaron Able dies leaving a wife and a child. Under Illinois law, Aaron's wife will receive one-third of his estate, and the remaining two-thirds will go to his child.

Second, Bill Baker is survived by his wife and two children. As in the case of Aaron's widow, the law provides that Bill's widow will take one-third of his estate; the remaining two-thirds will be divided equally between his two children. If John, one of Bill's children, had died before Bill, leaving surviving three children of his own, John's one-third share will be divided equally among them.

Third, Charlie Clark, whose wife is dead, is survived by his four children. The law directs that Charlie's entire estate will be divided equally among his children.

Fourth, Don Davis is survived by his wife. They had no children. The law is generous to Don's widow, but she does not receive all of Don's estate. She takes everything except one-half of Don's real estate, which will be divided in equal shares among his parents, brothers and sisters. If any of Don's brothers and sisters are dead, their children will divide their parents' share. If only one of his parents survives him, that parent will take two shares.

Fifth, Ed Easy is survived by his wife. They had no children. Ed has no surviving parents, brothers, sisters, or children of deceased brothers or sisters. In this case Illinois directs that Ed's widow will take all his property, and distant relatives receive nothing at all.

Sixth, Fred Fox died leaving no wife, children or grandchildren. Under Illinois law, Fred's entire estate will be divided in equal shares among his parents, brothers and sisters. If any of his brothers or sisters are dead, their children will divide their parents' share. If only one parent survives, that parent will take a double portion.

Seventh, George Gale died leaving no wife, children or grandchildren, parents, brothers, grandparents, great-grandparents, brothers, sisters or children of any brothers or sisters surviving him. The law provides that George's estate will be shared by his nearest kindred. If George is survived by one uncle, and several children of another deceased uncle, the surviving uncle will receive George's entire estate because he is the nearest kindred to George. In this way the laws of descent and distribution may reach out to distant relatives to provide for the distribution of George's property. If no kindred of George are found, his property goes to the county.

Will Needed to Change

Except for statutory provisions which give to a surviving spouse certain interests in the real estate that his deceased spouse owned during their marriage, these seven examples generally sum up Illinois' law regarding disposition of property in case the deceased person leaves no statement of his desires in a valid will. And so, if you have no will, you have just read how the State of Illinois will distribute your property for you. If this disposition is not in accord with your wishes, you must make a will to prevent it.

Thanksgiving

Ever Heard the Story of the FIRST THANKSGIVING?

Imagine that first harvest Thanksgiving in America, more than three hundred years ago. It probably started while families were gathered at someone's home after the day's work. The talk probably turned to events of the day and the bountiful year they've been enjoying... and in such an informal way as this, perhaps, they proclaimed the first Thanksgiving.

So at this time of year for giving thanks we also would like to take a pause and give thanks to you, our patrons and friends, for our bountiful year, and extend to you a most Happy Thanksgiving.

Channel Lake News

By Mrs. Pearl Kapell

Members of the Channel Lake P.T.A. were entertained by a humorous monologue on children, given by Mrs. Pearl Scully, at the regular meeting on November 15. Mrs. Myrna Youngman's room won the room count for highest attendance, and temporary custody of the picture given as a prize by the P.T.A. Refreshments were served by the seventh grade room mothers.

Next month's meeting of the P.T.A., to be held a week early, on Dec. 13, will feature the Junior chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Grace Amendola, in a program of Christmas songs. Plans are also being made for a dollar sale at the school the first week in December. A definite date for the sale has not been set. Those who remember last year's dollar sale will be sure to attend this one.

Cadet Elmer (Chip) Eberman, on sea duty from the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, is on a cruise through the Far East aboard the S. S. Louise Lykes. The Louise Lykes left port on November 1, and will make stops in the Panama Canal Zone, and at Yokohama, Nagoya, Kobe, Osaka, Pusan, Incheon, Taiwan, Indonesia, Singapore and Malaya, returning to the States on February 20.

"Chip" is on split sea duty—six months on board ship for training in his duties as a future officer in the Merchant Marine, and six months at the Academy pursuing academic studies—and will return to the Academy in time for spring training of the baseball team.

Mail Early For Christmas, '61

"It's time to start planning your Christmas card and gift mailings," Postmaster Roy L. Kufalik said today as he launched his 1961 "Mail Early for Christmas" Campaign.

Looking ahead to what may be the biggest Christmas season ever, the Postmaster said further, "Here are the things to watch to help in getting every Christmas card and package delivered before December 25th.

Check your Christmas card and gift lists carefully. Be sure each address is complete with full name, street and number, city, zone and State. Avoid abbreviations of city and state names.

For your gift packages, secure heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord and adhesive tape. Remember, also, that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift packages if you will add the appropriate First Class mail stamps to the postage for the package itself.

Stock up on postage stamps. By doing this soon, you'll save lots of time that might be spent standing in line later on. When you go to the Post Office, ask for a supply of labels which read "All for Local Delivery" and "All for out of Town Delivery," so that before you mail your Christmas cards you can sort them into two groups, with the addresses all facing one way, thus expediting delivery.

The Post Office will help you plan your Christmas mailings. Get a copy of Pamphlet No. 2, which gives full information about proper packaging and wrapping of parcels.

Lindenhurst News

By Mrs. Bernice Bernau
Editor 6-3449

The newly elected officers for 1961-62 of the Lindenhurst Daisies Seniors are Loren Lee Lewis, president; Marianne Smith, vice-president and program chairman; Barbara Warchal, secretary-treasurer; Patricia Wallock, reporter; Carolyn Westberg, recreation chairman; Alice Bechtol, sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. Andrew Westberg, leader of the 4-H club, says she still has on opening for six girls of high school age, who would like to join. Girls from the Lake Villa area are eligible. For more information call her at Elliot 6-3333.

The next meeting will be at the home of Marianne Smith on December 7 at 7 p.m.

Achievement Night was held last Friday at the Lake County Farm Bureau. Seniors and Juniors both attended.

Carolyn Westberg, 2121 East Woodlane Drive, gave a speech on the 4-H leadership camp and what it meant to her to win this honor. Carolyn was County project winner, State project winner, County outstanding winner and State outstanding winner. She is in her eighth year of 4-H club work. She also received a medal for her yeast bread.

Loren Lee Lewis and Sandra Hertel were both County project winners.

First year girls received their bronze pins and third year girls their silver pins. All 4-H members received one dollar for finishing their project. The whole club was an achievement club.

Mrs. Westberg, Miss Eleanor Drake, assistant home adviser from Libertyville and Mrs. Clarence Naffziger, leader from Zion, attended a two day training school November 15 and 16 at Joliet. They will teach local leaders some time in January at the Farm Bureau school.

Passed Away

Mrs. Mary Ann Koeppen, mother of Reynold Koeppen of 2001 East Fairfield Road, passed away last week and was buried at LaPorte, Ind. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Birthdays

Amy Mindak of 105 North Hawthorne Drive celebrated her twelfth birthday Saturday, Nov. 18. Her grandmother, Mrs. Szydlowski of Lindenhurst, uncle and aunt Richard and Bernice Malstrom of McHenry and uncle and aunt Charles and Irene Treve of Chicago joined the family celebration.

Masters and Mates

The Masters and Mates of the Lake Villa Community Methodist Church thoroughly enjoyed their search around Lake Villa and Lindenhurst for the hidden "treasure chest" Saturday night.

Twenty people drew names to see who would go out together in search of the chest. Three people went in each car. The clues were given in the form of poetry and only one clue could be opened at one time. If the clue couldn't be solved, the next one could be opened 15 minutes later. Everyone started from Dalgard's with flashlights, pencils and matches. A clue mentioning "skull and bones" made some think the chest might be near the Pirates Cove in Fox Lake. A trip there showed them it was wrong. Search around Holloker's home in Lindenhurst was wrong, too. The last clue was written in Morse code and told just where the treasure was. The skull and bones was meant to be the Lake Villa cemetery on Grand Avenue. "A side verted T" was the road sign on Grand Avenue just before you get to Deep Lake Road. It was just below the sign the treasure was setting. Ed Thamerus, Barbara Newland and Betty Robinson were back in 20 minutes with the 4' x 3' treasure chest filled with poker chips. They each received a bag of gold. (Gold covered chocolate candy). Warren Brown, Marcy Rolin, Bob Henderson and Eloise Brown were the last ones to arrive back an hour later. They each received a bag of suckers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith of Lindenhurst and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Botts were the hosts and hostesses. Joe is having a wooden plaque made and the names of the three winners will be engraved on it. It will hang in the Fellowship Hall of the Church for all to see.

They plan on having a treasure chest hunt every year.

The group will decorate the church and Christmas tree at the December 16 meeting.

Eagle Rank

Rolf Westberg, 2121 East Woodlane Drive appeared before the board of review in Glenview, Wednesday, Nov. 15, to take the test for Eagle Rank in the Boy Scouts. He passed with "flying colors." This is the highest rank a scout can achieve.

To be eligible for Eagle rank, a boy must earn the rank of Star Scout, then Life Scout. He has to earn 22 special merit badges. He must also write a 150 word theme explaining why he wants to become an Eagle.

He and his parents must be interviewed by the board of review before he is accepted. Not all boys who go through these details are accepted. They may pass every test and then be turned down by the board of review.

Rolf belongs to Explorer Post No. 88 in Venetian Village.

Birthday greetings to Bradford Kleban, 57 Longmeadow Drive. The little fellow will be two years old Nov. 24. He is the son of Bud and Phyllis Kleban.

Winter Season Tips For Protecting Perennials

Will the flowering perennials live over winter without special care? The answer to this question cannot be answered with either a yes or a no, according to Lee Smith, County Horticultural Agent of Kenosha County. First of all, some plants are hardy to this area—some are not. Second, a lot depends on the amount of snow and temperature variation we have during the winter; and thirdly, a plant that is strong and healthy will live over winter better than a weak, diseased one.

For the purpose of winter protection, Smith divides the perennials into five groups. The first is that large group of hardy herbaceous perennials and bulbs such as peonies, Shasta daisies, and flowering bulbs. A good share of the time these plants would not be harmed greatly without care. There are times, however, when a light 2-3 inch mulch will make the difference between having weak or strong plants next spring.

These mulches are applied after the ground has frozen. Mulches prevent alternating freezing and thawing in the spring which is harmful to the plants.

The second group is composed of those biennials and perennials that keep their leaves green over winter. Examples of this group are Oriental Poppies, Madonna Lily, Foxglove and Canterbury Bells. Smith said a mulch directly on these plants can smother them, especially if a fine material is used. Evergreen boughs with straw on top can be used, but it is better to put a berry box or build a teepee of shingles over the plant. The leaves can be held off the ground by putting a collar of excelsior under them before putting the box over the plant. A loose mulch is then put over the box.

The third group is the broad-leaf evergreens such as creeping euonymus. A mulch on these plants may kill them. No protection is needed if there are some surrounding plants that will shield them from wind and sun.

The newly planted shade trees make up the fourth group. The winter sun may kill the growing area under the bark. The trunks are wrapped with a light colored wrap to reflect the sun's rays. Burlap also can be used. Young trees and evergreens should be well watered before they go into the winter.

Smith said the biggest job is with the fifth group which includes the most tender roses—the hybrid teas. At this time of year a loose type soil is brought in and mounded up about 10-12 inches at the base of the bush. Do not take soil from near the bush as it may expose some roots to excessive freezing. After the ground is frozen a good mulch is applied.

The hybrid perpetuals, polyanthas, and floribundas are handled about the same as the hybrid teas even if they are somewhat harder. Some people just wrap the hybrid perpetuals with burlap to protect them from the sun and wind.

Climbing roses are laid on the ground, pegged down and covered with soil. If they are laid in a trough of boards, the amount of soil needed will be minimized.

Tree roses are about the hardest to handle as they have to be pulled over on one side and covered with soil, Smith said. This is done by digging under the roots on one side

How to Save a Life

SUFFOCATION ACCIDENTS

By James L. Whittenberger, M. D.
(When someone is struck down and badly injured in an accident, first aid, given before a doctor can get to the injured one, may save his life. Everyone should know what to do in these emergencies. The following article, prepared as a public service by the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, tells what to do in one serious instance. It is one of a series appearing in this newspaper.)

When for any reason a person fails to get air into his lungs he is suffocating. This form of accident occurs quite commonly in a variety of ways, and anyone who pretends to know the essential things about first aid should know how to treat suffocation.

Work fast. The body has no reserve supply of oxygen and when breathing stops for any reason there is usually enough oxygen in the lungs and blood to sustain life for only three to five minutes. If the heart and brain are deprived of oxygen for much longer than that they may be injured beyond repair.

Whatever the cause of the suffocation—electric shock, choking on a foreign object, near drowning, inhalation of poison gas, or others—the treatment is the same. It is to get air into the lungs and restore normal breathing.

If there is a foreign body like a large chunk of meat stuck in the back of the throat, this, of course, must first be removed either with the finger or by putting the head down and striking the patient on the back.

The means of doing this is mouth-to-mouth breathing. This is done by breathing directly from your lungs into the lungs of the victim, making sure that the passage from his mouth to his lungs is kept open. You can see his chest rise and fall if he is getting the air from your lungs. The method is almost instinctive and has been used for a long time. It now is recognized as the best form of artificial respiration.

Tilt the victim's head back, with him lying on his back, hold his head in position with one hand and pull the jaw forward with the other. Then make a seal with your mouth on the victim's and breathe into his mouth about 20 times a minute, the normal breathing rate.

Take your mouth away from his after each breath and fill your own lungs with clear air again. Red Cross manuals and teaching films will give detailed instructions in this method, and it would be well for everyone to know how it is done. It could mean saving the life of a loved one some time.

Keep up the artificial respiration until a doctor or a fireman with a resuscitation machine arrives.

Send for help immediately when the accident occurs. Then start mouth-to-mouth breathing.

Oxygen makes up about 21 per cent of the air we breathe and it is vital to life.

Remember to move fast when someone has suffocated, and get air into his lungs so that it can be sent through the body in the blood stream.

Don't get excited. Remember what you must do. Then act fast and keep up the mouth-to-mouth breathing until other help arrives.

Recipient Roll

Tapers Off

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 15—Overall recipient rolls in September reversed the upward trend by dropping to 424,203 recipients or 1,800 less than the August count of 425,981 persons. The number of recipients, however, was still 15 per cent higher than September 1960, when the rolls held 368,091 persons.

Peter W. Cahill, executive secretary of the Illinois Public Aid Commission, reported today.

Overall September costs paralleled the drop, falling to $21,253,352 from August costs of $21,450,918. In September 1960 the cost was $18,700,631.

General Assistance declined sharply, reflecting improvement in the economy in some sections of the state and also transfer of families with unemployed parents to the federally-aided program of Aid to Dependent Children. The September recipient rolls totaled 116,094 persons while the August count was 125,305 persons. In September 1960 the rolls held 120,804 persons. The September 1961 cost amounted to $5,323,800, a notable drop from the August cost of $5,644,298. In September 1960 the cost was $5,282,678. September's average of $45.86 per person compares with the August average of $45.04 and the September 1960 average of $43.56.

The number of persons receiving assistance and amount of assistance payments for aid to dependent children, blind assistance, disability assistance general assistance and old age assistance in Lake county is: 845 dependent children at $31,222; 21 blind persons at $1,369; 52 disabled persons at $3,496; 706 receiving general assistance at $34,187.86 and 499 old age assistance persons at $33,225.

Attorney General W. Clark Attacks Illinois Price-Fixing

Attorney General William G. Clark has launched a statewide investigation of losses sustained by schools and public agencies victimized by a price-fixing conspiracy in purchases of bleachers and bleacher seats.

Institution of Federal Anti-Trust proceedings aimed at recovery of treble damages for school districts victimized due to the price conspiracy is the goal of the investigation, Clark said. The total amount of such treble recovery, Clark said, could exceed over one million dollars.

Clark, in initiating the investigation, mailed to all of the County Superintendents of Schools and School Administrators in Illinois a letter explaining the purpose of the investigation and a questionnaire calling for listing of details of bleacher purchases made from Jan. 1, 1954, to date.

The investigation, to be under the joint direction of Special Assistant Attorney General Lee A. Freeman of Chicago and Special Assistant Attorney General John L. Knuppel of Petersburg, follows on the heels of the recent indictment of the principal manufacturers and suppliers of folding gymnasium bleachers. The criminal proceedings against these persons, Clark said, were terminated by pleas of no contest while a federal civil action against them is still pending. Under federal antitrust laws, Clark's letter explained, injuries sustained by purchasing school districts or other agencies resulting from this price-fixing conspiracy may be recovered as treble damages.

As the amount to be recovered by any school or agency would be comparatively small, Clark informed the educators, such suits could not be tried individually because of the expenses involved. Therefore, Clark said, the interests of all districts will be coordinated, with all recoveries of damages to inure to the districts whose purchases are involved.

Inside Antioch High

By Mike Brooks
Saturday night, November 18, a fine crowd listened and watched The Fine Arts Department of Antioch Township High School perform an excellent musical concert. The large crowd was appreciated very much by the department and the participating students. It showed us that the township of Antioch can get behind a fine organization and support it. Continued large and enthusiastic audiences encourage the choir and the band and as a result these organizations improve more and more each concert. Of particular encouragement to the participants was the large representation from the student body. Thanks to all who attended.

The Student Council of Antioch High sponsored a Student Dress-up Day Wednesday, Nov. 22. It was customary for the boys to wear sports jackets and ties. The girls wore high heels and clothes of a dressier nature than the every-day variety.

Also, Thanksgiving Vacation started Wednesday noon. As I said last week, our Student Council

ALL ABOUT BABIES...

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

GIVE THANKS—

By William Kitay
Member, National Association of Science Writers
Editor, All About Babies

For many of us, Thanksgiving Day is a day for reflection and reminder. It is a day when we pause to give thought to the many rights and privileges we enjoy but which, through the year, we had taken for granted. It is a day when we say thanks for the many bits of good fortune that came our way.

At our house, Thanksgiving Day is a day for all of this and something more. It is a day when we give thanks for something that happens every day, several thousand times over, but which makes it no less a miracle each time that it does take place—the birth of a baby.

What should be so special about the birth of a baby? Women are having them all the time! So we thought too, until one Thanksgiving Day some years ago when a story assignment took us inside a special ward at a Children's Hospital where babies with birth defects were awaiting corrective surgery. With some, nature had not completed its job, or had not done it well. With others, the damage had been done during the birth process or shortly after.

The hour spent in that Children's Hospital ward comes to mind each Thanksgiving Day when our children join us at the dinner table. And each year we renew our thanks that both are normal and in good health. For the one truth that we discovered that day some years ago was that the birth of a normal baby, each time that it takes place, is indeed a miracle. Each time that the soul a mother has helped create is able to accept the chance for life with all of its physical faculties intact, is a wonder to behold and one to be thankful for.

No doubt every mother, in her heart, is aware of this truth. It is evident in her very first act when she is permitted to hold her baby for the very first time. When she is sure no one is watching, she counts her baby's fingers and toes to see that they are all there.

Baby may fuss and wail. He may sneeze and snort and grunt. He may sleep by day and gurgle by night. He may grow hungry when you're not. He may test your patience in a dozen other ways. Still, be thankful that what he does he does because he's a normal healthy baby trying to get used to life outside his mother's body.

And even when a baby is not normal, there's room for thanks. Thanks for the miracles of modern medicine that are making it possible for babies born with defects to survive. Thanks for the many services that join with medicine to help these children grow and develop in their own way.

HEADS NORTHWEST GIRL SCOUTING

By Mrs. Raymond Claffy
EL. 6-5088

Mrs. George Sedivec was recently elected to head Girl Scouting in the Northwest District of the Archdiocese of Chicago, which consists of 14 parishes.

It will be her aim to bring the Girl Scout Program to many more girls. Through her efforts and hard work 7 Girl Scout Troops and 1 Cub Pack have been organized at St. Peter's Church alone and 3 troops in other locations in this area. Her scouting experiences date back as far as 1940 and to date she is Antioch-Lake Villa Neighborhood Association Chairman of Lakeview Council and, until recently, leader of 2 troops.

On Monday evening, Nov. 13, Mrs. Edward Rozga, leader of Brownie Troop 212 of Venetian Village was presented a New American Flag from the VFW Post 4308 of Lake Villa.

At their meeting on Wednesday the girls all signed a Thank You card to be sent to the VFW as they are very happy and proud of their flag.

Recently these girls made their first attempt at baking cookies which their mothers enjoyed very much. At present they are very busy making Christmas presents.

Girl Scout Troop 211 of Venetian Village performed a community service project on Armistice Day by planting tulip bulbs and spruce trees in front of the Venetian Village Civic Hall. The girls assisted by their parents, were Karen Ciconi, Barbara Rucholdt, Pat Puskin and Paula Jedrezejewski. Their leader is Mrs. Wilbur Rucholdt and her co-leader is Mrs. S. Puskin. The bulbs and trees were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Puskin.

The past week 17 girls from Intermediate Troop 110 of St. Peter's Church in Antioch completed a 3 session course in cooking at the North Shore Gas Co. Hospitality House in Waukegan, accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Homer W. Fox, co-leader Mrs. James Walsh and Mrs. Bernard Osmond.

Their first session included the fundamental cookery terms and measurements. The second session they cooked a complete breakfast and last a complete dinner. They also played a game based on what they had learned and it was won by Colleen Gross. Prior to the session the girls had made their own aprons.

FRIENDSHIP FAIR
The Girl Scout Friendship Fair was held Nov. 18, at the Antioch

Grade School and it drew a crowd of over 300 persons. A tremendous program opened with the presentation of colors by Senior Troop 201 of Antioch followed by the Juliette Lowe Friendship Fund presentation by the 24 Troops in Antioch-Lake Villa Area. The Brownie Troops entertained with songs, dances and a skit by the New Troop 138 while the Intermediate Troops had displays carrying out the International theme.

A movie entitled "The Wider World" was shown, after which the master of ceremony, Mr. James Brusk, who is assistant District Commissioner of the North Shore Area Council of Boy Scouts introduced the distinguished guests in the audience who were Mrs. William Bruhn, who is 2nd vice president of Lakeview Council, Miss Margien Lund, executive director of Lakeview Council, Miss Mary Garfield, Ensign at Great Lakes, and Senior Girl Scout Leader of Great Lakes, Miss Ruth Markonen of Finland who has been with the Swedish Girl Guides, also Mrs. Barna, leader of Troop 230 of Round Lake and Girl Scout of Troops 230 and 214 Round Lake.

The program closed with all Girl Scouts and leaders forming the Friendship Circle and singing Taps.

Attend Parents' Day At Monmouth College

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Olson of Highway 59, Antioch, were among the more than 500 parents who recently attended the fall Parents' Day activities at Monmouth College. Don Olson, son of the local residents, is a student at the Monmouth campus.

Mrs. Sedivec wishes to thank the Antioch Grade School Board of Education for the use of the school gym and all those who participated in the Fair.

TROOP 92

The monthly dinner meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Troop 92 was held recently at Pat's Lounge. Plans were made for the Christmas party for the troop on Tuesday, Dec. 12, at Wesley Hall. This will be a pot luck dinner for the scout families. There will be a grab bag for the children.

Election of officers will take place at the December meeting.

The Scoutmaster reported that the boys are going to the Museum of Science and Industry on Nov. 18. Each boy was to take a sack lunch.

150° hot water is always on tap in a flameless electric kitchen

Twin heating units in a new Fast Electric Water Heater heat water as fast as it's used. There's no "saving up" for it to do the laundry or dishes. It's always there—150° hot—when and where you need it.

No pilot to light. Once installed, a new Fast Electric Water Heater is on its own. There's no pilot to light or go out, nothing to smell. Compact tank-type models fit in a closet. Modern counter-top models fit in your kitchen or laundry (offer extra work space, too). No flues are needed. No vents or long pipe runs. Electric Water Heaters last longer than any other kind; many have been in service for over 20 years.

When you build, buy an appliance or remodel your kitchen, keep in mind the unique advantages of a flameless electric water heater.

Sequoia Basketball Squad Takes on Mundelein Team

Larry Leon, coach of Antioch's High School basketball team, has recently narrowed down his squad to seven probable game starters. At the forward positions it will be among Doug Lang '63, Bill Osga '63, and Bob Krieger '63. At center will be Denny Pogose, towering at an impressive 6'6". The guard positions will be sought by Bob Kubicki, 5'11, Jim Brownlee, 5'2 and Joe Pleviak, 5'10.

Leon reiterated his statement of last week concerning the Mundelein game, stating that since the school was full of new boys, he was pretty much in the dark about what he'd be facing. It is reported that Mundelein, with many transfer boys from Libertyville, will represent a good and efficient ball club.

Even though the game is a non-conference battle, it was considered by Coach Leon to be equally important as a regular conference game, being the key opener of the season.

Some added strength was expected from the five returning lettermen who are seniors, it was felt in before-the-game estimates.

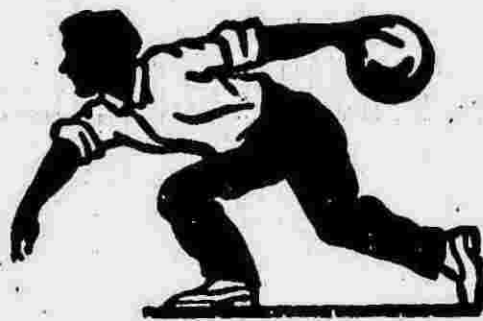

The Mundelein game, as this paper goes to press, will have been played there Wednesday evening, November 22.

New CL Gym Opened By GS Basketballers

It was a thrill for many when the Channel Lake basketball team played its first game in its own gym Thursday night. The opening of the new gym sparked the A team to a 33-25 point win over Harrison. The B team lost a close one, 19-20.

For the A team, Bill Portalski was high scorer with 16 points, with Bill Berger coming in second with 11 points.

The gym was packed with spectators for this first home game. For those who missed Thursday night's game, an open house will be held as soon as the new kitchen is completed, and we'll try to publish notice of coming games.

Salem Sweeps Burlington Game, Takes Two in a Row

Salem Central's Falcons made it two in a row Tuesday night as they downed Burlington-St. Mary's in their Southeastern Conference opener, 59-44.

Jumping off to a first quarter lead of 19 to 12, the Falcons maintained control throughout the game, outscoring St. Mary's in the first three quarters.

The Falcons coasted to the short end of the scoring in the final quarter 10-15. Scoring honors for Salem were captured by Zeihen with 21 points on 8 field goals and 5 free throws. Yates followed closely with 19 on 6 field goals and 7 charity tosses. Scoring honors for St. Mary's went to Agnew with 15 points.

Missed free throws told part of the story as St. Mary's gave up 14 to Salem's 3. The Falcons outscored Burlington from the field 21 to 16 and greater accuracy from the charity line gave them an easy win. The win gave Salem a 2-0 overall win record and are now sharing the Southeastern Conference lead with Union Grove, Waterford and Clinton. All are at 1 and 0.

Palmyra moves to Salem Friday for the second conference game of the season.

Salem's B's took the measure of St. Mary's 38 to 23 in the evening's curtain raiser.

Highly Rated Salem Squad Wins 1st Game

Salem Central High School with five returning lettermen, eight juniors and one sophomore are expected to fill out a good year of basketball playing.

The senior lettermen returning are: Captain Dan Yates, '61, John Zeihen, '61, Glen Schulz, '61, Darrell Pofahl, '64, Jim Hofer, '62, George Rodis, '60, and Ralph Remus, '61.

Yates is high scorer with 371 points.

Game Rules Are Stressed At High School Basketball Clinic

A fundamental sports clinic was held Saturday morning, Nov. 18, at the Antioch Township High School Gym between 9 and 11 a.m.

Coach Larry Leon of the High School estimated that at least 30 persons were in attendance at the clinic.

Fourteen or fifteen grade school coaches and parents were present to learn the fundamental offensive and defensive actions used by Antioch's high school squad. This serviceable knowledge was extended for the grade school coaches' use in teaching their junior courtiers to employ skill in their game.

As Coach Leon spoke, diagramming the various basketball court drills on offense and defense, the high school squad demonstrated the maneuvers as illustrations.

The purpose of such clinics, Leon stated, was to prepare grade schoolers for high school ball.

Following the clinic, an intersquad scrimmage was held.

Williams Bay, Union Grove and Salem should scrap it out, it is felt, for the title because of returning experience. Waterford and Clinton will have dangerous junior squads that will be tough to handle in January and February.

Salem already won their first game against Burlington, 63 to 38. The Salem squad will face Palmyra Friday, Dec. 1, at 6:45 p.m.
